Michael,

I'll continue to try and reach you by phone but I wanted to re-cap my conversations with CVS this morning:

I spoke with Brian Whalen at CVS a couple of times this morning regarding store #0219 and the other locations you referenced at NACDS. I also reviewed your slides with him. He tells me that he responded to Cardinal last March on inquiries for these same stores. At that time CVS experienced an increase in sales of Oxycodone due to the DEA closing stores in the area. Again earlier this week, because of our request, he sent another email to LP asking them to take a fresh look. He received a response yesterday that they have reviewed the stores activities and that they have been closely monitoring store #0219 for a couple of weeks. None of these stores show significant growth or shrink issues. Additionally CVS has a new attorney working with the DEA. They acknowledge that Florida has been cracking down on "pill mills" and that is driving more legitimate traffic to CVS stores.

Brian will send your slides over to LP for their review and response. They will not provide the doctor or patient information you requested unless it is requested by the DEA. He was quite adamant about this. He does not expect Cardinal to interrupt service to CVS stores since they have responded in the manner we originally agreed upon when launching the SOM program. Any disruption to service will impact patient care and patient care with pain medication is critical as you are aware. I ask that you release any pending orders and update Gilberto.

Thanks

Paul
